Our Town

The Cameron Enterprise says: "It may be unnecessary for the local school board to waste several thousand dollars in repairing the old school building for the purpose of teaching just a few grades there." Then this "professionally" trained journal goes on to say: "Repairing the old school building would be a step backward and an extravagance and waste of money." So it is plain that the Enterprise would not only destroy the school but would neglect and abandon the building, a plan always remote even in the days when the board sought to abandon the school. Five hundred citizens petitioned that the school remain at its present location, and that sufficient funds be diverted from the bond issue to make the school what it should be. If the Cameron Enterprise, semi-official organ of the board, is reflecting the attitude of the board faith has been broken with the people. We assume that the expression of the paper has a tinge of official semblance as it quotes Mr. Fisher as permitting the students to attend both schools thereby making it unnecessary to "waste several thousand dollars." If the paper wrongfully reflects the attitude of the board then it should be called upon to explain that the plan to permit transfers and thereby "save" several thousand dollars is not an effort to destroy the school. We believe the board is anxious to equitably compose all differences over the old grammar school for which the bonds were originally voted, although none of the money appropriated for it."

The Enterprise, pursuing its policy of advocating economy, might explain to the people how it would justify the abandonment of property valued at $75,000 and thereby save money to the people. Centralization will probably meet the requirements of "professionally trained journalists" but the people would suffer great financial loss.

We publish elsewhere in this edition a resolution passed by the school board outlining plans on which it proposes to meet the needs of the old grammar school. Improvements proposed do not seem to meet the demands of the people and probably do not include equipment agreed upon at the meeting when the matter was concluded before the board. Although the resolution adopted by the board and offered as a substitute for the resolution offered by the board, does not detail the improvements, it was the understanding that a heating plant would be installed and that sanitary equipment now located in the building would be maintained there. The board at first offered a plan that would restrict the use of the school. That plan was not agreed to by the citizens committee and instead a resolution prepared by T. S. Henderson removed restrictions as to the number of grades. The plan of the board as outlined by the resolution restricts the use of the school to split classes of three beginner grades. It is also proposed to tear down an additional portion of the building, we are told, and to carry the sanitary equipment now in the building to the outside. For the heating plant stoves are to be substituted. We do not believe this arrangement will meet the approval of the people and we trust the board will not be content with so slight an expenditure for the grammar school which under agreement is to be made a permanent part of the school system. If the building is not placed in condition its use will be discouraged and it will not be a part of the school system as to proper maintenance and care.

Under the circumstances, people who transfer their children from the old grammar school to the new are encouraging dissolution of the school. If by reason of failure to transfer the necessity would force the board to make required improvements, it will be better if no transfers are made. If the people who reside in the west and south and central portions of town desire to maintain the school at its present location they should not encourage its dissolution by sending to Yoe Hi but should demand a more even distribution of well equipped as the other.

THREE DAY CELEBRATION ROCKDALE JULY 4, 5 AND 6

Ills of Government Cured By City Manager Plan

RALLY DAY OF FARM CLUBS BRING MANY HERE

Owing to the threatened outbreak of typhoid fever in Cameron every sanitary precaution should be taken for its prevention. It is prudent that all people should be vaccinated against the infection. Dust, drinking water and flies are the principal carriers, therefore the need of precaution to prevent the infection.

AUTO AND HORSE RACES FOR LEGION CELEBRATION

FLEET OF RECORD TRACK MEN TO PILOT CARS AT ROCKDALE JULY 6.

Automobiles and race horses will compete for attention at the fair grounds in Rockdale Monday July 6. Three fast automobiles with track records and drivers who have the nerve to step on the gas have been secured for the races on Monday afternoon. These cars are known over the country and have made record time at Houston and other noted speedways.

Reports Thursday from the tracks indicate that the largest string of race horses ever gathered for the sport in Milam county will be at Rockdale beginning Saturday morning.

The racing program will open Saturday morning. Monday will be the big day for the races. Stores will close and the people will go to the races.

The program has been arranged so as to assure attractions for the three days and although Monday will be the big day in attendance the programs Saturday and Sunday should not be overlooked.

CAMERON MEN ASSIGNED WORK FOR BOY SCOUTS

LOVE, POLLARD AND TUCKER WILL MANAGE WORK HERE IN FUTURE.

Three Cameron men have volunteered to carry on the Boy Scout work for the county. They are Rev. J. P. Love, pastor of the Episcopal church; C. H. Pollard, district court stenographer and J. C. Tucker, vice president of the Cameron State Bank.

Geo. Barron, director of the district composed of Milam, Falls and Roberson, has surrendered the work. The Boy Scout movement was sponsored by the local order Lions Club but the club has failed to raise the finances necessary for the work on that scale.

Monday the leaders will take the boys to Belton for the summer encampment in the Confederate park there. District manager Knox will be in charge of the camp at Belton from July 6 to 15.

In volunteering their services these Cameron men are rendering a great service to the community and while it is regrettable that Mr. Barron cannot continue the work on account of failure of funds, it is believed the work will go forward.

public benefits. It is neither fair nor just to create advantages in one section of town to the detriment of another section and use these advantages to attract the minds of the children. One school should be as well equipped as the other.

Grammar School Must Be Part of System

The plan of the school board to zone the city and to permit transfers together with failure to provide a modern plant at the old grammar school is looked upon by many as tending to eventually destroy the school.

Citizens who favor equal advantage for that locality where the old grammar school is now located say that the action of the board in denying sufficient appropriation of money to improve the old grammar school has made of it an "orphan" to the system, a condition sought to be avoided in the settlement in which more than 500 petitioned for its permanent maintenance. T. S. Henderson in opposing the destruction of the

"The Board expresses its intention to recognize the old school site as a part of the permanent school system and will repair the building and put it in good condition and provide proper heating, lighting and sanitation.

"The use of the site will of course be subject to the requirements and judgment of the school board in the future as occasion may arise."

BOARD OUTLINES PLAN CONTEST OF ELECTION FOR GRAMMAR SCHOOL AT GAUSE TO BE HEARD

RESOLUTION PASSED BY BOARD SETS OUT PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS.

In a resolution passed by the school board improvements in the old grammar school building are outlined and on the basis of this resolution the architects have been instructed to make their estimates.

At the request of the board the Herald is presenting this resolution for the benefit of the public. If the improvements as proposed by the board do not meet the demands made by the citizens when more than 500 signed the petition asking for the maintenance of the school, protest should be made at once and the board given the benefit of public opinion.

The resolution follows:

"Resolved, That the board of trustees proceed at once to reconditioning of the old grammar school as follows:

"1. Outside toilets sufficient are to be properly installed.

"2. A sufficient portion of the building as will be needed by a section of the first three grades to be reconditioned as to light, sanitation, floors, etc.

"3. A heating and ventilation system by means of jacketed heaters, ventilators, etc., be installed.

"The architect is instructed to prepare plans in accordance herewith.

HIGHER COURT UPHOLDING WATSON MAKES POSSIBLE OPENING BALLOT BOX.

Opportunity has been made to prove whether fraud was practiced in the Gause school trustee election with the ruling of the court of civil appeals upholding the decision of Judge Waston in refusing an injunction.

When the court of civil appeals sustained the court here the case was turned back to the district court for trial. An injunction was sought to restrain contestant from opening the ballot box. Under the ruling of the higher court trial will go forward and the ballot box now in possession of the court will be opened.

Fifteen days was allowed in which to make a motion for new hearing.

The court is expected to adjourn for the summer and while the motion may be heard the court must make its decision final in the injunction matter before the case is sent back to the court here. This may delay trial of the case until fall but it is practically certain that the entire matter will be laid bare in the courts.

Miss Hazel Thomas is suing for the office and alleges fraud in connection with the election. Miss Thomas is opposed to the Klan.

A CORRECTION

In justice to myself and in view of an erroneous statement of the matter, I wish to make the following correction:

On the closing day of the Cameron schools I chaperoned my pupils to a pleasant spot in the Aunt Lizzie Wilson pasture for a picnic—nowhere near a body of water. The picnic over, conducted the children back to town.

Later some of these boys, it seems, procured permission from their parents and went swimming. I was not, however, a member of this party. The boys report that one of their number narrowly missed drowning due to the heroic efforts of Raymon McDonald. If this be true there is no question but Raymond is entitled to a Carnegie medal.

Upon reading in the Cameron Herald the first erroneous recital of this swimming episode I called the editor, explaining to him in detail the facts, i. e., that I had nothing to do with this outing and that it was separate and distinct from my school picnic. Mr. White evidently failed to understand my explanation, since his second report did not make it clear.

VELDA WALKER.

STORES WILL CLOSE MONDAY.

A petition by the Retail Merchants Association will be circulated Friday and the merchants asked to close their stores on Monday July 6. On account of the Fourth falling on Saturday it is not practical from a business standpoint to close. The people will attend a celebration at Rockdale to feature horse and auto races.

GIRLS WIN HONORS IN DOMESTIC CONTESTS

PROGRAM ENCOURAGES BETTER WORK AMONG FARM WOMEN OF COUNTY.

The second Rally Day of the Agricultural Club of Milam County held at the City Park last Saturday was quite an event. There were 10 communities represented and 82 men, women, boys and girls registered in the morning and at least 20 or 25 more came in the afternoon.

There were some very interesting talks made in the morning, the address of welcome by Mr. Webb, secretary of the Commercial Club was responded to by Mrs. Sam Taylor, of Milano. The District Agents Miss Spratt and Mr. Johnson from A. & M. gave inspirational talks and Judge Kemp expressed his gratification at seeing such a fine turnout at the meeting. Following these talks Mr. Johnson took charge of the poultry work, Mr. J. L. Thomas, Dairy Specialist took the men and boys to the John Gamble barn for instruction in dairy cattle judging. The women went to the Cameron Furniture Store for the Biscuit Contest, this contest attracted much attention.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL STAGE A BIG PROGRAM

PROGRAM COMPLETE SHOWS ATTRACTIONS—HORSE RACING TO FEATURE.

Great activity is in evidence on all sides at Fair Park, Rockdale, in preparation for what is expected to be one of the greatest celebrations in the history of the town. Under the auspices of the American Legion, Rockdale and Cameron Posts, the event will eclipse anything of the kind ever before attempted. Through the co-operation of business men invitations have been sent into practically every home in the county, thousands of people will be in attendance.

The following is the official program for the three days:

SATURDAY, JULY 4.
10:00 a. m.—Base ball game, Cameron vs. Burlington.

DELINQUENT TAX AND OTHER ABUSES CURED

FORT WORTH GIVES EVIDENCE OF ADVANTAGE OF CITY MANAGEMENT PLAN.

The Herald reproduces from the Houston Chronicle of Sunday account of the operation of the city manager plan of government in Fort Worth which is one of the few large cities to adopt the system.

Because of the demand for a city manager plan for Cameron to take effect with the next fiscal year the following is given:

Four weeks of the managerial form of government in Fort Worth have passed and as yet none of the dire calamities which opponents of the plan freely predicted have befallen the city. Quite the contrary, the city has witnessed a few accomplishments and the promulgation of a number of new policies which augur well for the future.

Four weeks is entirely too short a time to judge accurately the success or failure of any form of government, but a good beginning is considered by the city and members of the city council feel that they have made a good start.

O. E. Carr, city manager of Dubuque, Iowa, for the last five years, assumed that office in Fort Worth on June 1. His salary is $13,500 a year. (continued on page six.)

NO WARRANTS WILL BE ISSUED BY THE COUNCIL

POSTPONEMENT MADE FINAL WHEN PURCHASERS NOTIFIED DEAL OFF.

No warrants will be issued by the City Council as proposed in the re-funding program.

The Council at its recent meeting postponed the matter after opposition developed in the council, H. M. Hefley and Geo. T. Graves, opposing issuance of the warrants. Later purchasers with whom contract had been negotiated were notified the deal was off.

It is believed the warrants will not now be issued and that the city will proceed to finance the business along lines of revenue from the tax rate in shorter term instead of issuing 15 years securities.

Star Spangled Banner

Tiny Finds a Way

By HOMER B. KING

(©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

TO BIG JIM CARNAHAN—Lippy—and Tiny Perkin, had come the parting of the ways.

It was the finding of a rich old river bed at the end of the fifty-foot tunnel they had driven into a hill that caused the trouble; after years of seeking, the possibility of sudden wealth had suddenly awakened in Lippy the devil cupid.

Today the last of the gravel they had wheeled out was being sluiced and Carnahan had driven Tiny away, swearing he would twist his skinny old neck if he came back before the work was finished. Sneaking around through the brush, Tiny hid close to where the big fellow was working, and for two hours watched him, and before leaving he knew Carnahan was robbing him.

When Carnahan entered the cabin Tiny greeted him in his usual cheery manner.

"How'd she clean, Lippy, boy?" he chirped.

"Not much—that's all," Carnahan growled, dropping two slim buckskin dust bags on a slab table.

An hour after Carnahan took from beneath his bunk two other bags of gold dust.

"Pull up!" he ordered. "I'm going to divide what we've got."

"What's the idea, boy? Can't we do that when we get to Mt. Idaho?"

"No! We're splittin' right now."

"Why?"

"Because," Lippy rasped, thrusting his heavy face forward, "because, old man, you leave tomorrow for outside. I'm through supportin' you."

"Why, Lippy, you ain't supportin' me—our claim's more than doin' that."

Carnahan laughed shortly.

"Our claim?" he scoffed. "Ain't you woke up yet to the fact that you ain't got no claim? It's mine, old man."

After pouring half of the second bag on a piece of paper, folding it and pushing it toward Tiny, he rose, and first placing his gold beneath his jacket pillow he dropped on his bunk.

For a time Tiny sat silent. "Boy," he at last quivered, "what you've done ain't square, but I've lived a long time and seen lots of things—and understand. I've found out that gold madness is worse than most anything a man can get—and Lippy you've got it!"

"Shut up or I'll—"

"See," Tiny interrupted, "it'd make you murder your best friend. Come on, son, let's get away. We'll go down to Mt. Idaho and spend the winter."

Carnahan leaped to his feet. "Cut it, you old rat! I know what you are drivin' at—you want to get me out where you can make a fight for half of this claim. Well, you don't do it—and tomorrow you git!"

It was after midnight when Tiny, leaving Carnahan snoring loudly, slipped out and hurried up the creek to the tunnel. Lighting a stub of candle he went inside. In half an hour he found Carnahan's cache. His next move was to stick fuse into several sticks of giant. Five fuses he capped; the others he only tied to the powder and dropped them into a sack which he hung across his shoulder, leaving the fuses dangling. Next he placed two of the loaded sticks at the tunnel mouth, lighted them and ran down the creek toward the cabin.

He was still running when the explosion came and small rocks rattled about him. He heard the roar of sliding earth and knew the tunnel was no more. Next he heard Carnahan yelling his name as he ran toward him, and slipping into the brush he let him rush past. Then he ran on to the cabin.

First he took the gold from beneath Carnahan's pillow. Next he carried out their remaining grub, Carnahan's clothes and their blankets. Dividing the food he put his part into his sack; the other half he left on top of the blankets. Placing two sticks of giant in the doorway he again ran. Then came the roar and the cabin was a jumble of logs.

"Two minutes after, raging like a crazy man, Carnahan came running back, and Tiny, swinging about his head a stick of dynamite with lighted fuse, yelling like a mad man, leaped toward him.

"Git out of the way!" he screamed.

"Git! I'm comin'. I'm the powder man—powder man!" he sang, and disappeared into the bush as the roar of the powder he had thrown sounded.

Lippy gave one look and ran as though devils were pursuing him.

In Mt. Idaho, two days later, Lippy, red-eyed and haggard from sleepless nights of terror, stood before Sheriff Adams.

"I tell you, sheriff," he was saying, "he's plum crazy. Poor little devil. Why, man, he done his best to blow me to smithereens with dynamite. He did blow up our tunnel and cabin. We'd made the biggest cleanup of our lives, too, and he blowed it plum to kingdom come, but—"

"Hello, Lippy—figgered I'd find you here," Tiny called from the doorway.

"Beat me in by an eyelash, didn't you?"

"Look out!" Lippy yelled, dodging behind a desk. "Look out! He's got the powder in that sack! Look out!"

Tiny grinned.

"Don't get excited, sheriff. I throwed the powder away 'fore I got into town. I got suthin' better'n powder here, and he dumped on the desk six buckskin bags. "Wish you'd weigh that sheriff. Half's mine and half's Lippy's. Mine and me had a little argument 'bout it the mine. Howsomever, it's settled now, ain't it, Lippy?"

Complex and Varied Is the Human Soul!

I never cease to admire the indelibility of human nature. It does not wear off. Whatever they may do, men are and remain what they are. They may deceive themselves; they may deceive others, especially the shortsighted ones, those who cannot look from the proper distance. Thus the surface of the sea seems quite dark when you are very near to it, but if you climb into the crow's nest you will see how clear the water is, and the higher you go the deeper you see. George Sarton writes, as quoted from "Transparency," in Scribner's Magazine.

If you have learned to contemplate life in its true perspective, how transparent, how beautiful it becomes. This transparency is, indeed, the very spice of life. Among the many splendors of nature, what could be more impressive, more delightful than the infinite variety of the men and women who pass, mix and play before our eyes? Birds are pretty enough, and there seems to be no end to the beauty and fantasy of their plumage, but what of women! what of men! Can there be anything under the sun more complex, more varied, more full of problems and enigmas of all kinds than the soul of man? The mystery seems bottomless, for even if we were to understand each soul in itself, we would still but be at its threshold. For we would not yet know how each of these souls would react upon the others. Each possible combination, each pair of souls opens a new vista of endless secrecy.

Many Names Bestowed on Species of Duck

A study of the local names of American birds leads one to believe that our citizens delight to invent names for the species in which they take interest. In almost any region names for certain birds can be found that are not used elsewhere. Hence it is possible to collect rather long lists of names for birds that attract popular attention. For instance, 92 local names are known for a single species of wild duck, the ruddy. In this case, as in others, some of the names have a touch of humor or local color that renders their study a pleasure.

The ruddy duck, for instance, gets such appellations as booby, dumb bird and sleepy head, because it is slow to take alarm; and others like hard head, leather breeches and shot pouch, because so often it safely emerges from a perfect rain of shot. It has various derogatory nicknames, among the mildest of which are dinky, blatherskite and fool duck, says Forest and Stream.

Snail's Pace?

"He moves at a snail's pace," is a remark frequently heard, especially when the subject is a youngster going to school or an office-boy who has been sent on an errand.

But even of the slowest of the younger generation the statement is, to say the least, slightly exaggerated. A recent experiment proved that a snail progresses at the rate of one mile in a fortnight.

If you place a snail on a sheet of glass and watch the underside, you will see a series of ripples along the animal's foot. This foot is a network of muscles, and the rippling is produced by these muscles lengthening the foot in front and shortening it behind, which is the snail's mode of progression.

Composition of Yeast

Yeast, strictly speaking, is a substance consisting of the cells of certain minute fungi. It appears as a surface froth or as a sediment in fruit juices and other saccharine liquids in which it induces alcoholic fermentation. Yeast is made of millions of minute, simple plants. What is popularly called yeast is a culture of such fungi or plants. Manufacturers cannot "make" yeast in the sense that they can mix chemicals and produce it. Yeast increases only by the multiplication of the fungi cells. In other words, you must have seed yeast to start with. Ordinary cake yeast sold on the market is composed of yeast cultures in other substances pressed into cakes.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Tracing Use of Gas

Natural gas was used in a practical way by the Chinese shortly after the opening of the Christian era for such purposes as the evaporation of salt from brine. It is said that certain houses in Peking were heated—if not lighted—with the gas.

In Europe the first use of gas for commercial purposes dates back to the experiments made by Murdoch, who lighted his home with it in 1792, and to the work carried to a more practical conclusion by Winsor. In the United States the first gas plant was established in Baltimore in 1816, which was followed by one in Boston in 1823 and one in New York in 1825.

Annular Eclipse

If the sun is very near the moon's node when our satellite becomes new, clearly the moon must then pass almost exactly between earth and sun. If at the same time she is in apogee, her apparent size is a little less than that of the sun. Then her conical shadow does not quite reach the surface of the earth, and a ring of sunlight is left, surrounding the dark moon completely. This is called an annular eclipse, because of the annulus, or bright ring of sunlight still left shining.

Fine Collection of Books on Far East

On a high hill on the very edge of Tokyo stands the world's finest library on the Far East in languages other than Chinese, Japanese and their kindred tongues. The library building is fireproof, soundless, severe and scientifically arranged, but sadly out of sympathy with the unique and marvelous collection of volumes made by Dr. George Morrison over a period of many years and supplemented now by the purchases of Baron Iwasaki, who offered the institution to students of all climes.

Baron Iwasaki not only placed the library at the disposal of those interested in the Far East, building and equipping a home for it at a cost of 1,500,000 yen, or $750,000, but he endowed the institution with 2,000,000 yen, the interest on which is to maintain the library, assist in the promotion of research work on oriental subjects, and purchase additions from time to time. The whole is placed under the control of a board of trustees.

Doctor Morrison's collection includes works on China, Tibet, Mongolia, Manchuria, Kashgaria, Siberia, Korea, Formosa, Japan and the neighbors of China, and a comprehensive set of works on central Asia and the rivalry between Great Britain and Russia on the western frontiers of China. There are books on the subject in more than twenty languages.

Petrified Wood Has Beauty Akin to Gems

The petrified national forest, one of the 29 national monuments established by Presidential proclamation, is the only region of hundreds of places in the Southwest in which silicified wood occurs in such abundance as to deserve the name of a petrified forest. It is located in northern Arizona south of the town of Adamana on the Santa Fe railroad and was designated as a national monument in 1906.

There are three principal groups of forests in which trees or blocks of the petrified wood lie scattered about in profusion. Many tree trunks exceed 100 feet in length and cross sections reveal the fact that these trees, which are cedars, did not grow there, but probably beside an inland sea, and upon falling became water-logged on the bottom at this point. During decomposition the cell structure of the wood was entirely replaced by silica derived from sandstone in the surrounding land.

The state of mineralization in which much of the wood exists almost places it with gems or precious stones. Not only are chalcedony, opals and agates found, but many trees approach the condition of jasper and onyx.

Coach Properly Defined

Now that the coach has become a large factor in motordom, the question is raised as to what is meant by the term. The Society of Automotive Engineers defines it:

"An enclosed single-compartment body, similar in general appearance to the sedan, with two close-coupled cross seats for four passengers. There is a luggage compartment or space for a trunk at the back of the body. There is no glass in the rear quarters. The conventional type has two doors only, the forward seats being divided and the right-hand seat tipping forward to give access to the rear cross-seat. Some models have two doors on the right-hand seat, there being two fixed cross-seats."

Have Kidneys Examined By Your Doctor

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

STOP THAT ITCHING

Sufferers from skin diseases such as Itch, Eczema, Tetter, Poison Oak, Ringworm, Old Sores or Sores on Children may find relief from the use of a jar of BLUE STAR REMEDY or their money will be refunded. The first application relieves that terrible itching. Will not stain clothing and has a pleasant odor.

There seems to be an epidemic of summer complaint or dysentery among children and grown people around Cameron this summer. If you or your children suffer from this trouble, we will sell you a bottle of Baby Tone in a guarantee. This is different from the ordinary treatment as it neutralizes the acid condition of the stomach and bowels. Contains Bismuth which is an intestinal antiseptic also Pepsin which acts as an aid to digestion, thus assisting nature to restore the stomach and intestines to a normal condition. Has a pleasant taste and is easily given to children.

Buried Golden Cross and Pot of Gold Is San Gabriel Legend

Catholic Mission, Long In Ruins, Romantic Spot

An Indian massacre, a murdered priest, a golden cross worth fabulous sums and a pot of gold, combining tragedy with romance and adventure, makes the interesting outline of a legend of the San Gabriel Mission recently published in the volume "Legends of Texas" by the Texas Folk Lore Society.

Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp whose collection of literature has garnered into archives of rich interest varied accounts of early life in Milam county has submitted the following account of the legend under title of "Buried Treasure Legends of Milam county, by Louise Von Blittersdorf, and others will appear from week to week:

Although up to ten years ago Texas history had hardly recognized the existence of the San Gabriel missions, legend had kept the fact and the place green for generations. In April, 1914, an article by Dr. Herbert E. Bolton, on "The Founding of the Mission on the San Gabriel River, 1745-1749," appeared in the Southwestern Historical Quarterly. The next year Dr. Bolton's book entitled Texas in the Middle Eighteenth Century was issued by the University of California Press; in it pages 135-278 treat of "The San Xavier Missions." These are the main and almost only accessible sources for whoever would know the history of the San Gabriel missions. There were three missions, the principal and most enduring one being the Mission San Francisco Xavier de Horcasitas (1748-1755.) The name San Xavier was later corrupted into San Gabriel. The San Gabriel mission had trouble with the Indians, and it is a fact that a priest, Father Ganzabal, as in the legend, was killed by them.

Before the mission was abandoned in 1755, legend had seized upon it; and when Dr. Bolton discovered the site hardly a dozen years ago, he found that legend had kept treasure hunters familiar with the grounds and ruins. He quotes Father Mariano, priest of the time, on legendary causes that contributed to the final abandonment of the mission: "The sacrilegious homicides having been perpetrated, the elements at once conspired, declaring divine justice provoked; for in the sky appeared a ball of fire so horrible that all were terrified, and with so notable a circumstance that it circled from the presidio to the mission of the Oecisos (Orecoiza) and returned to the same presidio, when it exploded with a noise as loud as could be made by a heavily loaded cannon. The river ceased to run, and its waters became so corrupt that they were extremely noxious and intolerable to the smell. The air became so infected that all who went to the place, even though merely passing, became infected by the pest, which became so malicious than many of the inhabitants died, and we all found ourselves in the last extremes of life. Finally, the land became so accursed that what had been a beautiful plain became converted into a thicket, in which opened horrible crevices that caused terror. And the inhabitants became so put to it, in order to escape the complete extermination that threatened them, that they moved more than thirty leagues away, with no other permission than that granted them by the natural right to save their own lives."

We learn how rich was San Gabriel Mission, for whose cross of solid gold men have blithely sought, when we read that the total properties transported from it and its two sister missions, including six bells, were inventoried at $1804.50.—Editor.)

In the early days of Texas, when the missionaries were bringing old world civilization to the new world, there stood a mission on the San Gabriel River between what are now the towns of San Gabriel and Rockdale. The mission was a thriving one and before many months a large rock church had been built. The crowning glory of this church was a solid gold cross on the steeple.

Many converts were made to the new religion, and the small community soon became so powerful that the Indians began to fear it and decided to put an end to it. Accordingly, they murdered the priest there. The surviving Spaniards decided to abandon the mission at once. First, they buried the body of the murdered priest; then they took the cross from the steeple of the church and buried it, together with some gold found in the priest's possession, until they should have time to return for it and carry it away. By covering the gold with charcoal and ashes, they took precautions that no mineral rod should locate it.

Many years later a church was being built in Mexico, and an old Mexican who had heard from his ancestors the story of the buried cross and treasure, came to the priest and prevailed upon him to go to the San Gabriel River and try to find the gold cross to put on the new church. During the journey the Mexican died, leaving with his companion directions for finding the cross. Duties back home were urging the priest's return, and when he met a young Irishman named Mike Welch, he entrusted him with the secret and obtained his promise to carry on the search. With two men to help him, Mr. Welch went to the site of the old mission. Digging a certain distance from a specified tree, the men unearthed the skeleton of the priest together with a small crucifix. Then, according to directions, they measured the distance from the grave to the nearest corner of the church and began to dig again. They came at last to some charcoal and ashes and knew that they were near the object of their search. One of Mr. Welch's men took sick, however, and, as it was nearly dark, they decided to postpone further digging until morning. That night the other man slipped away from camp. As soon as Mr. Welch discovered next morning that one of his helpers was missing, he went to the unfinished hole. There he saw where a large pot had been taken out. It is well understood that the gold cross and other treasures were found and stolen away. The thief left that part of the country and has never been heard of since. Mr. Welch kept the crucifix until a few years ago, when it was lost.

Miss Ruth Coleman Becomes the Bride of John Rosson of Milford

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church in Cameron when Miss Ruth Coleman, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Coleman became the bride of John Rosson, Jr., of Milford, with the service read by Rev. R. S. Marshall.

The church was in beautiful bridal adornment for the event in the bride's chosen colors, pink orchid and green. The chancel rail was banked with ferns and pedestal baskets of pink roses and carnations grouped against a background of graduated ferns. Cathedral candles on pedestal stands gleamed amid the altar greenery.

Preceding the bridal procession Miss Jessie Guffy sang "Tis Not Because Your Heart Is Mine." Accompanied by Miss Helen Flinn who also played the nuptial marches. The pastor, the groom and the best man entered from the church study. The ushers, Messrs. Odam Rosson, brother of the groom and Don Deput of Milford, came down the center aisle and took places on either side of the altar. Miss Katharine Parker of Milford maid of honor, wore pink crepe chiffon with picture hat and carried a colonial nosegay of roses.

The bride was radiantly beautiful in gown of orchid chiffon with trimmings of taffeta petals held in place by rhinestone cabochons with becoming picture hat in the same shade.

Her flowers were Angelus roses, lilies of the valley, maidenhair and lace ferns. The bouquet was fashioned in colonial style.

Mrs. Tom Law of Waco, matron of honor wore green chiffon dress with taffeta trimming, picture hat and carried colonial bouquet of roses and field flowers.

The manly little ring bearer clad in white was Master Adam Rosson, Jr., of Milford who carried the ring on a satin pillow.

Preceding the bride and scattering rose petals from white wicker baskets were little Misses Elizabeth Sprott and Francis McDermott in dainty pink silk voile frocks.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and a few close friends repaired to the Coleman home. The bride donned a becoming going away costume in rosewood shades with harmonizing accessories and a most becoming rose and beige hat and Mr. and Mrs. Rosson left for a honeymoon trip to South Texas cities. After July 15th, they will be at home to their friends in Milford.

O. E. S. SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION

The District Deputy of District 3 O. E. S. has called members of the order within her district to come to Temple on July 7th for a day of instruction in the work of the Order. Mrs. Stella C. Vodrie of San Antonio, Grand Matron of the State of Texas will personally supervise the work. Members who attend are asked to bring box lunch. Cold drinks in abundance will be provided.

W. M. U.

The fifth Monday in June was made the occasion for special visiting among the members of the Baptist Mission Union and the sick shut-ins and strangers were kindly remembered.

Circle one held social meeting with Mrs. O. H. Griffin and honored Mrs. J. D. Bell whose home was destroyed last week by fire with a miscellaneous shower. This was given in loving appreciation of a faithful member of circle number one in sympathy for her recent loss. A pleasant afternoon was spent and the hostess, assisted by friends served ice cream and cake most attractively.

MORNING 42.

Among the affairs calendared for the week honoring Miss Ruth Coleman whose marriage to John Rosson of Milford took place Tuesday evening was the morning 42 party with which Mrs. Charles Sprott and Miss Edna Sprinkel honored her. A color scheme of orchid and pink was carried out in the details of the hospitality. Decorations of lavender, cantebury bells and pink zeinas were used. The game tables were outfitted in these lovely shades. Floral score cards were passed by little Miss Elizabeth Sprott and her brother Chas. Sprott, Jr., who also scored for the games. Table trophies were pairs of pink zeinas. A salad course with apricot ice was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Minnie Wolf. A framed copy of Hunt's "Light of the World" was presented to the honoree.

Members of the bridal party were present and among the out of town guests was Mrs. Ways Plaster Hoover of Houston.

DINNER PARTY.

Miss Jessie Guffy entertained with a dinner of charming and distinctive appointment Monday evening for the Rosson-Coleman bridal party. Miss Guffy was assisted in hostess duties by her friend Mrs. Leland Green. Perennial Phlox and crepe myrtle were lavishly placed about the home, the dining room featuring crystal baskets of the chosen blossoms in its decorations. Covers for twelve were laid on three tables overlaid with handsome lace covers over pink. Crystal candlesticks held lighter pink candles tied with orchid tulle.

The brides table was graced by a beautiful wedding cake which was cut during the evening. The colors were featured in clever manner in the menu. Attired in dainty summertime frocks Miss Iva Wilson, Oma Graham, Ima Wilson and Beatrice Rylander served the courses. After the dinner members of the party repaired to the church for a wedding rehearsal. The dinner guests were Miss Ruth Coleman, John Rosson, Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Marshall, Miss Katharine Parker of Milford, Mrs. Tom Law of Waco, Mrs. E. R. Bergstrom of Austin, Mrs. W. O. Triggs, Messrs. Mike Coleman, Adam Rosson, Don Deput of Milford.

WOMEN'S BIBLE CLASS ELECT NEW OFFICERS.

The T. E. L. Class, a Sr., Women's Bible Class of the Baptist church, held an enthusiastic meeting in the home of Mrs. John Denson, teacher of this class on Friday afternoon of last week.

The organization was completed and plans made for work.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. George McGehee, president. Mrs. W. G. Allen, first vice president.

Mrs. E. N. Casey, second vice president.

Mrs. Geo. A. Thomas, third vice president.

Mrs. F. J. Beckerman, secretary.

Mrs. Preston Graves, assistant secretary.

There were 19 members present and after business was concluded the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Louise served refreshments of Sherbet and cake.

This Sunday school class was formerly known as the Miss Ada Henderson class who for many years was its most splendid and loved teacher. She recently gave the work up for a while.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Members of the Bible Study Class met in the Park Monday afternoon for a social in honor of the winners in the recent contest in Bible Study. A large crowd was present, a pleasant hour was spent together. A contest from the Ice Box was put on in which Mrs. Grover White was winner.

Mrs. Lena Baskin was chairman of the refreshment committee and the "eats" were abundant and satisfactory. She was assisted by Mrs. Willard McCall, Mrs. W. I. Clark and Mrs. R. A. Tag and several other members.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Mrs. Gennine Weinfeld entertained with a Mah Jong party honoring her cousin, Miss Millie Weinstein of Ft. Worth.

Punch was served during the games and table trophies were awarded to Misses Carrie Collier, Iva Wilson and Katharine Leach. Refreshments of cream, cake and candy were served. The personnel of the guests included Misses Cecile Klawansky, Iva and Ima Wilson, Katharine Leach, Marguerite Ford, Carrie and Vance Collier, Dorothy Blaylock, Katharine Atkinson, Beatrice Rylander, Ethel Collier and the guest of honor, Miss Millie Wienstein who was given a pair of beautiful hose as a guest prize.

STROLL PARTY.

On Friday, June 26, Miss Gladys Davis honored her sister, Sybil Alliger of Fort Worth and Arna May Mears of Gatesville, with a stroll party. As the guests arrived each was given a space in the memory books of the honorees.

Between each of the fourteen strolls punch was served by Misses Imogene Sapp, Dorothy Lesovsky, Laurita Evans and Majorie Dusek. After the last stroll, brick ice cream and angel food cake was served to the following guests:

Florence Atkinson, Inez Evans, Lena Bell Baskin, Harriet Flinn, Kathleen Ely, Allene Maddox, Ethel Collins, Dorothy Blaylock, Gardine Lesovsky, Paul Watson, Fredrick Graves, Billy Wallace, Kenneth Rogers, Frank Cheeves, Hooks Slocumb, Arthur Adams, Oliver Newton, John Jeter, Ray Jeter.

Out of town guests were Sybil Alliger of Fort Worth, Arna May Mears of Gatesville and Charles Foster of Bonham.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Service at the Episcopal church will be at eight o'clock next Sunday evening.

You are cordially invited to attend.

PITFALLS FOR THE UNWARY

Seek Bankers' Advice on Foreign Bonds, Says Department of Commerce.

American investors in securities of foreign companies and foreign governments should take care to purchase them only through reliable bankers or brokers, says Commerce Reports issued by the Department of Commerce. It adds:

"There have recently been several flagrant cases of securities being advertised in American journals at prices from 10 to 100 times the price quoted on the same date in the markets of the countries where the concerns are located. Some of these cases have even attracted the attention of foreign newspapers. This is not a safe kind of speculation for uninformed Americans, but the would-be investor can easily protect himself by asking the advice of his regular banker."

American Bulldog

The American bulldog—or pit bulldog, because of the old sport of fighting them in pits—is one of the few breeds of dogs of distinctly American origin, and one of the first developed in this country. It is the product of a crossing of the English bulldog with the bull terrier, the subsequent introduction of an additional strain of English bulldog ancestry giving the American bull its weight and its shorter muzzle and larger head. But the breed now runs very true, and has for many years, and there is not much experimenting with it.

Chance for Experiment

It was between dances. They were sitting in a dim corner.

"You have wonderful eyes," he murmured.

"Yes?" she inquired expectantly.

"They are like stars," he went on. Her lips brushed his as he murmured: "They are so bright."

His hand fumbled in his pocket and he drew forth a glittering object: "They are so very bright," he repeated. He thrust his watch before her. "See if you can see the time in the dark."

Rub Rheumatic Pain From Aching Joints

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappears and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia. Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment, you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

Value of Self-Control

No man whose appetites are his masters can perform his duties with strictness and regularity. He that would be superior to external influences must first become superior to his own passions. When the Roman general, sitting at supper with a plate of turnips before him, was solicited by a large promise to betray his trust, he asked the messengers whether he that could sup on turnips was a man likely to sell his country.

Superstition

"Why did you discontinue your auto trip so soon?"

"Well, you see, my wife is superstitious; and after we had run over 13 people she thought we had better turn back, as it might mean bad luck."

FELT SLUGGISH

Illinois Man Tells About His Relief from Indigestion.

"I used to suffer," says Mr. Walter W. Macdonald, of 711 Fairview Ave., Edwardsville, Ill., "with indigestion, a tight feeling in my chest after meals—felt sluggish, lazy and dull and out of sorts. I would be very constipated."

"Some one recommended Black-Draught. I began using it. I found it so very satisfactory I have used it ever since. I wouldn't be without it."

"My work is inside. I do not get as much exercise as I would like, and at times my system gets clogged and I would see the necessity of a good active medicine."

"After one or two doses of Black-Draught, my head clears up and I feel like new."

"For stomach or liver trouble, Black-Draught does good."

Theodore's Black-Draught is recommended by thousands of others for the relief of many common ailments due to a torpid liver, needing laxative or cathartic stimulation.

CHEVROLET GRADUATES MECHANICS FOR WORK IN FACTORY PLANTS.

The Chevrolet Motor Company, expanding its policy of assuring long years of driving satisfaction thru proper service, has added three more units to its chain of service schools.

There are now ten schools in various parts of the country, each in charge of two highly skilled instructors. It is axiomatic that there always is one right way and several wrong ways of doing anything. The Chevrolet instructors teach that right way. Their classes are small—not more than six or eight men—to permit of individual attention. Each week the ten schools return to the service organization between 60 and 80 graduate mechanics whose specialized knowledge of the car and its servicing equipment eliminates the element of chance and guess work.

"Improper fitting of a minor part may cause expensive damage to any automobile," declares C. B. Baldwin, director of Chevrolet parts and service department. "But when a man leaves one of our schools he is a precision mechanic. He does not guess; he knows. He has knowledge of the Chevrolet mechanism unobtainable in any other way."

The seven original service schools were established last summer at each of the Chevrolet assembly plants in the United States located at the following cities: Flint, Mich., Tarrytown, N. Y., Norwood, O., St. Louis, Mo., Janesville, Wis., and Oakland, Calif. The success of this group resulted recently in the establishment of the three additional schools at Dallas, Texas, Denver, Colo. and Portland Ore., for service men in territory geographically remote from the assembly plant schools.

A chief instructor travels constantly from one school to another. In schools are Chevrolet chassis, used motors, gears, axles and transmission assemblies upon which the students work with Chevrolet precision equipment. Often a motor is intentionally disabled and then placed in perfect order.

The students come from the service departments of the 3,400 direct dealers and the many associate dealers. The intensive course lasts one week. Shop foreman predominate but many subordinate mechanics also attend the schools. Only Chevrolet men are accepted as students.

Another angle in the work of giving the owner the ultimate in driving satisfaction is the service promotion department, also under Mr. Baldwin. This department sends experts to suggest improvements in shop practice and arrangement that patrons may obtain maximum speed and accuracy in servicing.

"This combination of service training for the men and installation of intelligent shop methods is causing a growth of the flat rate service plan among Chevrolet service stations," says Mr. Baldwin. "Proper training enables the men to determine exactly what a particular service will cost. Thus they can give the owner a price before they start the work. The plan is of mutual benefit to dealer, service man and car owner."

Delinquent Taxes and Other Abuses Cured

Although he has been a city manager for a number of years, this the biggest job he has yet tackled, and Fort Worth is the largest city in Texas which has turned to this form of government. For this reason, it is more or less of an experiment, which will be closely watched by other cities of the state.

Financial difficulties in which the city found itself the latter part of 1923 led to the calling of a special election in which the voters expressed a desire for a change in government, and named a charter-drafting committee of 35 members. After working nearly a year, this commission submitted to the voters a charter based on the managerial plan. Its adoption was approved at the polls last December, and became fully effective April 15, when the last of the old commission form passed out of existence.

In the place of the old commission of six members, control of city affairs now rests in a council of nine members, one of whom is designated by the remaining members to serve as mayor. Commissioners were paid $2500 a year; the councilmen receive $520 a year. All of the councilmen are prominent business men of Fort Worth, several of them being in the millionaire class, who were "drafted" for this service by the citizens committee, which fostered the change in government.

Carr had been in office less than an hour when he learned that approximately $2,500,000 was due the city in delinquent taxes, and a campaign for the collection of this huge sum was launched immediately. Tax suits now are being filed at the rate of 50 a day, and tentative plans have been made for the formation of a finance corporation to purchase property which will be sold for taxes.

In starting the campaign, Carr expressed two purposes: First, to obtain money with which to operate the city; and, second to distribute the burden of government costs equally. His position is that "it is most unfair to the straight-forward people of Fort Worth to take their money and at the same time not force payment on the part of those who are willing to sit back and attempt to avoid payment of their proper share of the cost of municipal operation."

Some startling information in connection with the waterworks department also was brought to light by the city manager on his first day in office. He discovered that, although Fort Worth is supposed to be 100 per cent metered, 55 per cent of the water which is pumped by the municipal station is not accounted for in the meter readings at the end of the month. Where this enormous amount of water is going has not yet been determined, but Carr has said that he intends to find out. His first step in this direction was the appointment of Lewis A. Quigley of Van Buren, Ark., as superintendent of the department. Quigley is said to be one of the most efficient water works men in the South.

When the leakage in the water system has been stopped, Carr proposes to lower water rates. The present rate is 30 cents per 1000 gallons, a tariff which has been a hindrance to the chamber of commerce in attracting new industries to the city in past years. The city manager has given the chamber of commerce assurance that Fort Worth will have as low a water rate for industrial plants as any city in the South, and on the strength of this statement two large plants are preparing to locate here. One of these will have an initial expenditure for plant of approximately $1,000,000.

The city manager also is giving study to Fort Worth's fire loss, which in 1924 totaled $1,600,000 and precluded any credit being given on the city's rate. The loss so far has amounted to $600,000. Carr's first step to effect a reduction in this loss was the designation of a city detective to thoroughly probe every fire, regardless of size, and to make a complete report on his findings. He also is contemplating the establishment of a fire prevention bureau which would devote all its time to the study and elimination of fire hazards.

In this connection it is recalled that Carr found a similar situation when he went to Dubuque in 1920, and when he left there that city was boasting of its record of being the fourth best city in the United States in the matter of fire prevention.

Carr, with the assistance of the council, also is seeking a slight reduction in electric light rates. The basic rate now is 8 cents per kilowatt hour, and the council has suggested to the Fort Worth Power and Light Co. that a 7 cent rate would be ample return on its investment, and at the same time save the Fort Worth consumers $500,000 a year. Officials of the company have the matter under advisement, and it is reported they are preparing to submit a reduced schedule to the council for its approval in the near future. If the reduction is effected Carr will have saved the city many times his salary in the first few months of his service.

But it is not only major items like this that Carr is attending to. There came the matter of purchasing a supply of water meters and connections. Bids were called for. Prices quoted on meters were satisfactory, but connections were quoted by the meter makers at 71 cents each, and contracts were awarded accordingly. When it is considered that the city uses 5000 meters and connections a year it will be seen that this small saving of 37 cents a connection will amount in 12 months to $1850.

Carr, an ardent prohibitionist and stickler for law enforcement, found Fort Worth more or less of an oasis on the great American desert and soon passed the word out to the police department that gamblers and bootleggers must go. Since that time, with the assistance of federal and county officers, the department has conducted dozens of raids, made numerous arrests and confiscated thousands of bottles of home brew and "corn."

On the theory that any violation of the federal constitution may be termed a nuisance, Carr is now having drafted an ordinance which will place petty liquor cases in police court. This, he says, will serve a threefold purpose. First, it will dovetail with the national prohibition commissioner's plan to relieve Federal Court dockets of these cases; second, it will materially increase the city's revenues through penalties and fine forfeitures; and third, it will reduce to a minimum the number of disorderly houses in the city.

With Carr and his aides taking care of routine matters, members of the council are devoting their attention to those things which will tend to "make Fort Worth a cleaner, happier city in which to live." Their program, as far as it has been developed to date, calls for:

The removal of unsightly signs in the dawn town district.

The elimination of grade crossings and beautification of railroad rights of way leading into the city.

The extension of water and sewer mains to all inhabited sections of the city.

Another feature of Fort Worth's new form of government which is being put into effect gradually is the civic service, which will include practically all officials and employees. Under the supervision of a civil service board, the service is designed to eliminate the "spoils" system to fill every position on the basis of merit and fitness. Carrying out this theory, Carr did not stage a spectacular "house cleaning" at city hall when he took charge. Instead he has reappointed and reemployed a number of officials and employees whose past service appeared to him to justify their retention. In the case of the city attorney, Rhienhart E. Rouer was reappointed and his salary raised from $2500 to $5000 a year, as was his assistant, Gillis A. Johnson, whose salary was increased from $2400 to $4000 a year. In return for the higher salaries, however, each attorney is to give up his private practice and will devote his entire time looking after the city's legal business.

Girls Win Honors In Domestic Contests

tention. There were six entrants and they said if they couldn't all win they enjoyed the work. Judge Kemp can vouch that they are all good biscuit makers. Mrs. Bruce Jennings was the lucky one winning the scholarship to A. & M. Short Course, July 27th. Mrs. Moore, also of Davilla was a very close second. While the Biscuit Contest was going on the judges were busy with the clothing of the girls. There were five entries in the afternoon dress, or class B. and five in class A. or the school outfit. These outfits consist of underwear and dress with suitable hose and shoes they are scored for suitability, workmanship, practicability, cut and finish they must also have a theme on the well dressed club girl and an account of all money spent for their clothing for six months. This not only trains them in sewing and appropriateness in dress but also as to whether their clothing budget is well balanced. The winner in class A. was Alice Brashear, Maysfield and in class B. Nell Sue Tyson also of Maysfield.

After lunch Mr. Johnson had a try-out of the poultry girls and the winner who will represent this County in the State Contest were Oleta Nixon, Davilla and Alice Janak of Maysfield. Betsy Kerr of Davilla received the scholarship for the girls room improvement contest. She read a paper on how she did it and what it cost, which was under $5 and she has a charming, room. Also public announcement was made that Mrs. Taylor was not only the scholarship winner of the county in the Kitchen Contest but that she was the winner of first place in the District in class one, or that her improvement was made at a cost less than $25.

We wish to most heartily thank any one who in any way contributed to the success of the day. The Commercial Club for the luncheon and assistance in securing the scholarship, Mr. Coleman for the use of his store and equipment for the biscuit contest, Giles Avriett for a sack of American Beauty flour, Duke and Ayers for courtesies extended, Mr. Tucker, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Kahler for use of their poultry, also Mr. Tucker for use of coops and milk, John Gamble for use of dairy cows, Mr. Cobb for some advertising and all the county newspapers for printing notices for several weeks of the event and Sam Hefley for the free picture show.

Here's hoping for a bigger and better Rally Day next year.

PEYTON SAYS SERVICE IS AIM OF TELEPHONE CO.

GIVING FIRE ALARM INFORMATION STOPS SERVICE AND IS DISCONTINUED.

C. S. PEYTON.

Service to telephone subscribers is the aim of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and information accommodations that prove detrimental to the service have been discontinued says C. S. Peyton, manager of the Cameron Exchange.

In a statement before the Commercial Club Monday night Mr. Peyton said that the exchange had discontinued giving out information as to location of fires when the alarm is sounded because in doing so service through the board is interrupted for 20 minutes or more. Mr. Peyton appeared before the club to answer inquiries as to the service during periods of fire alarms. When the fire location information was discontinued several weeks were required to get the people accustomed to the new policy and with each fire alarm service through the board is improving.

Mr. Peyton said that out of about 700 telephones in the city that fully 600 instantly called for fire information. All calls through the board for doctors and for business men and others were cut off and for 20 minutes or more no service could be given. This has been eliminated by discontinuing the information and considerable saving in time to patrons and improved service is given by discontinuing information as to the time of day.

Such service is not in the province of the telephone company and prohibits maximum of efficiency to subscribers and Mr. Peyton will have the co-operation of the club in his efforts to give better telephone service.

In the future do not ask the operator to tell you "where the fire is" or "what time is it" because the telephone exchange cannot give this information and keep up service through the board that is demanded by subscribers.

SUPPLYING THE NATION'S CHANGE

Supplying the wealthiest nation in the world with change is a job of tremendous proportions. During 1924 the United States mints struck off 89,394,000 one cent pieces and 28,315,000 nickels. The small change of the nation was enlarged by 37,940,000 dimes and 16,592,000 quarters. While a drive was started to popularize the silver dollar, only 13,539,000 of the "silver cartwheels" were coined. Singularly, the half-dollar is the most unpopular coin that the United States makes. During 1925 there were just 142,080 half-dollars struck off, and all of these were the commemorative Huguenot-Wallace coins. The mints coined 10,300,500 double eagles.

No man whose appetites are his masters can perform his duties with strictness and regularity. He that would be superior to external influences must first become superior to his own passions. When the Roman general, sitting at supper with a plate of turnips before him, was solicited by a large promise to betray his trust, he asked the messengers whether he that could sup on turnips was a man likely to sell his country.

The Power of Thought

By WARREN ORDWAY

(©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

MR. HOLLOWAY was in an expansive mood, as he had just come from a good dinner and an ovation. Before an enthusiastic audience at the City club he had made his famous speech on "The Power of Thought."

He unbuttoned his vest and seated himself before his "workbench," as he liked to call his mahogany desk. "Now, if I can have an uninterrupted hour I can get some real work out of the way," he said.

Quiet thought was what accomplished things! From the day when as a young man, Holloway had stumbled across the formula for hardening the rubber in tires he had longed for time to think.

A workman entered and stood before Mr. Holloway's desk asking his advice. Mr. Holloway rose, cursing the interruption, and followed the workman into an adjoining room where the last finishing touches were being put on some alterations. The workman asked a question about the trim, which Mr. Holloway answered instantly.

He did not return at once to his office, but walked about the room, admiring the details. It was to be an absolutely quiet room.

"When this quiet room is finished I'll be able to get some real work done!" Mr. Holloway exclaimed, as he returned to his desk.

No sooner had he got squared away than the office manager, a thin, nervous fellow, in a black haircloth coat, bustled up. "Mr. Holloway, I'm at my wits' end," he fumed. "They're taking my storage space for factory materials, and I don't know where in the world I'm going to put the transfer correspondence." He spread a plan on his chief's desk.

Mr. Holloway scrutinized the plan, and like a flash, the solution came to him. He picked up the plan and boomed: "I'll let you know later. And in the meantime I'll give the matter my best thought."

The telephone rang and a City club secretary a thousand miles away asked if he would give his speech before their organization. "Yes, yes!" he shouted, and turned with a groan back to his plan.

A young man quietly entered the democratic office and stood before Mr. Holloway's desk. "I'm from Successful Men Magazine, and our readers want your ideas on the power of thought." Mr. Holloway gave his views, his voice trembling with the desire to throw the interrupting young man into the street.

A few days later the quiet room was finished. Every stick of furniture was in its place, and even the bronze reproduction of Rodin's "Thinker," reposed on the mantle. Mr. Holloway cleared the room of reporters and guests and announced he should first consider the problem of the office manager's transfer files.

Mr. Holloway sank back into one of the capacious padded leather chairs. This was the critical moment to which he had looked forward all through his business life. No more distractions; no more snap judgments, but from now on every decision firmly rooted in the deep thought that flourishes only in silence.

He spread the office manager's plan on the table, folded his hands across his unbuttoned vest and closed his eyes, the better to concentrate on the problem. He leaned his head against the leather chair back and relaxed every muscle.

The silence of the room hung over him like a blanket. He could hear the blood pounding in his head, while in his ears there rang a sharp, thin sound, like a distant locomotive whistle.

The ringing in his ears grew louder and became the whistle of a yacht—his yacht, bought with the extra profits made through the use of the silent room. He was standing on deck as the glorious boat plowed the blue waters of the Mediterranean sea. But what was the booming and that rattle of guns? A pirate ship in the distance! Its cannon was firing a shot a second, and its small arms were rattling an accompaniment. It was coming nearer, nearer. He shouted to the captain of his yacht. "Shoot! Why don't you shoot!"

Mr. Holloway awoke with a start. He snapped on the light and looked at his watch. After six! He had slept for over four hours!

He opened the great felt door and tiptoed across the dark, deserted office to where his hat was hanging. Glancing about, fearful lest he should meet one of his employees, he slunk shamefacedly to the elevator.

Next morning the office manager stood expectantly before Mr. Holloway's desk. "Did you decide about those cases of transfer correspondence?" he asked.

Mr. Holloway handed him a cigar and cleared his throat. "Don't be surprised," he warned with a nervous laugh.

After the two men had lighted their cigars Mr. Holloway ordered: "You can store the stuff in the new quiet room."

"Wha-wha-a-at?" stammered the office manager.

Mr. Holloway continued more confidently, now the first shock was over. "I've revised my slogan. From now on it's to be, 'Thought plus action.' You might have fifty copies struck off and distributed to all my department heads."

REAL ESTATE, EDUCATION AND THE FUTURE.

By Wm. A. Black.

The real estate men are in the saddle. To judge from advertising and newspaper publicity it is a prosperous field of activity. We are told how to invest, where to invest, how to double our money all of which is reinforced by striking examples of the money that has been made in real estate speculation. Speculation is the proper term to use because that is the central idea of real estate activities.

Farmer, wage earner and business man should give some attention to the program of these energetic hustlers. They are reaching out into the field of education. They propose to teach us how to maintain the monopoly of real estate and the owners of land to get the most out of it. The National Association of Real Estate Boards meets in convention in Detroit, June 23rd to 26th. One day is set aside for conference by the "Joint Committee on Real Estate Education." It is announced that "more than forty colleges and universities now offering courses in real estate will be asked to send representatives to this conference." The collegiate schools of business and the Y. M. C. A. schools will be represented. Dr. Richard T. Ely of the University of Wisconsin will address the Conference on "Real Estate Education and the Future." Dr. Ely is building up a formidable organization under the title of "The Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities." Formidable is an appropriate term when applied to an alliance between real estate boards and our great institutions of learning. This alliance is the more dangerous because its chief purpose is to bolster up and increase the capital value of land and to fight every step toward the taxation of land values.

Dr. Ely in his "Outline of Land Economics" (one of a proposed series of fifty volumes) sarcastically remarks, "The taxation of land values has become quite as much a social problem as a fiscal measure. To many people the taxation of land is now a veritable religion with promise of social salvation." Dr. Ely has summed up the issue better than he may have intended. The taxation of land values is a social problem and only incidentally a fiscal one. It is also a "veritable religion" to an increasing number. It must be a religion to all believers in God because land is His one gift to men. God has not given us houses, nor factories, nor clothing, nor machines or food. All the necessities and comforts of life must be produced by men out of the land. It is the one and only prime necessity. If this is true and no one can deny it then why should the taxation of land to prevent its monopoly become a "veritable religion" to every honest thinking man. We have had too much "real estate education" in monopoly. We need more education on how to use land and how the user may keep and enjoy the produce of his labor.

GET THE RIGHT TRAINING.

It is a regrettable fact that an amazingly large percentage of our young people spend from ten to twelve years of their lives—years of hard, patient study—to acquire an education which COULD be of priceless value to them and then never give it a chance. They virtually throw it away.

Too many young people do not seem to know the purpose of an education.

When High School has closed, they wander down life's highway aimlessly. They are like a ship without a rudder—like a mariner without a compass. They are on their way, but they do not know where they are going.

The trouble is, they have no definite plan of life. They do not seem to appreciate that success is the result of carefully laid plans along definite, chartered ways. Or, no doubt, they would plan successful careers, and then work those plans.

Business is the most fertile field there is for power. Business pays more than all the trades and professions combined—both in income and in opportunities. And business does all this while you are still young. The first step is to TRAIN for business just as you would train for any other profession. The Tyler Commercial College can train you in just a short time to accept and hold a position in business. Business is a profession. In fact, business is a profession of many professions—advertising managers, sales managers, office managers, salesman, credit manager, accountants, secretaries, etc.

When you train for business you will be better qualified than the university graduate with no special business training. This has been proven thousands of times. So you want to get a good position—one which pays a good starting salary and offers excellent opportunities for advancement—if you want to be well on the road to success long before you are thirty—if you want to accomplish all this in half the usual time and at less expense, send for "Achieving Success in Business." This large book will help you and inspire you; it will tell you of the largest commercial school in the United States and what it can do for you. Just send the coupon printed below for the helpful book. It is FREE.

DISPOSES IN 282 WORDS OF THE BANK GUARANTEE LAW

"Understand bank deposit guaranty being proposed in your legislature," telegraphed R. B. Clark, president of the Bank of Tupelo, Miss., to Paul R. Brown, Secretary of the North Carolina Bankers Association. "Such a law in any form is a snare and a delusion. It is license and encouragement to irresponsible banks and banking and penalizes capital solvency and prudent banking. It creates a sense of security in the minds of the unthinking and uninformed that is false and impossible to be realized on ultimately. It tends to debauch one's right and duty to be thoughtful and discriminating. To compare it to legitimate insurance is without reason and absurd. It jeopardizes the solvency of all banks and the safety of all depositors for the theoretical safety of a few. We have had it ten years, and the fund is hopelessly in arrears. Have been fighting for repeal and have made progress. Only repeal can save our state system of banks. Many of the best are nationalizing even now. Guaranty schemes always have been, are and always will be impotent, futile and disastrous. Consider Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska, Mississippi and others. It is not new. Has been tried, failed and discarded at intervals for more than 100 years in this country. No well-informed, honest and intelligent mind can accept it in principle or practice. Well paid intelligently competent supervision, restriction of banks to territory that will warrant sufficient capital investment and encourage surplus accounts is the only sane and honest course and will afford all the guaranty the depositing public is entitled to as compared with all other human affairs. Arouse your people and crush the misguided effort for all time. To do so will be worth whatever it may cost, and the value will be to your people generally more than to the banks."

The bill was reported unfavorably.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?

So Was This Cameron Woman Who Tells Her Experience.

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Cameron case is one of many.

Mrs. H. D. Reynolds, 104 North Crockett Ave., says: "My kidneys were sluggish and I had a constant, bearing down pain through the small of my back. I also had a lameness and soreness in my back and I felt worn out and run down. I was troubled with dizzy spells when little black spots darted before my eyes. After using Doan's Pills from the Jackson & Read Pharmacy, kidney trouble left me."

BACKACHE

Mississippi Lady Benefited by Taking Cardui.

"I took Cardui for backache and a weakened, run-down condition, and it strengthened and helped me," says Mrs. Mattie Hurt, of Coldwater, Miss.

"Before the birth of my children, when weak and nauseated, I took Cardui. After the birth of my children, when just getting up to do my work, I took a couple of bottles of Cardui and it never failed to strengthen and help me when taking it."

"I seemed to enjoy my food and my back would feel stronger. I don't believe I could have kept going had it not been for Cardui and the strength it gave me."

"When change of life came on I got down in bed. Life seemed to be just a terrible drag. I did not have strength for anything. My back hurt. My limbs hurt. I was so nervous I couldn't rest."

"I knew what Cardui had done, so sent straight for it, and it did just as it had done before—strengthened and built me up."

Boy Scout News

Monday July 6th is the big day that all of the Cameron Scouts have been looking forward to, for on that morning they are to start for the Summer Scout Camp at Belton.

All Scouts are to meet before 7 a. m. Monday morning at basement of the Methodist church where a number of Cameron Lions will be in waiting to drive them to Belton.

Instead of remaining in camp six days as originally planned the camp will last from July 6 to July 15th.

The Belton camp will be in charge of Deputy Knox who stands very high as a leader of boys and who is an expert at archery, bridge-building and numerous other interesting phases of Scout work.

Through the generosity of a number of citizens of Cameron the boys from the Friendly City will have all of their expenses paid in full.

Cameron Scouts will be in charge of Scoutmasters Tucker, Pollard and Love.

In order to go to camp all boys must register with Scoutmaster Love and submit to a physical examination at the hands of either Dr. A. S. Epperson, Dr. John L. Denson or Dr. Tom Denson all of whom have volunteered their services.

Sunday July 12th will be visitors day at the Scout Camp. All parents, friends and sweethearts of the boys are invited to make them a visit on that afternoon and evening.

It will not be necessary for the Scouts to take any money with them.

Scouts do not bring or have sent to you any candy or cake.

Two good cooks are being taken along who will fill you up with good wholesome food.

Scoutmaster Pollard and Love made a trip to Belton on last Monday and inspected the camp site, located in the Confederate Park, and report that the location is fine—lots of shade, good tents and cots, screened kitchen and dining room, good drainage in case of rain and sanitary toilets.

Telephone is on the grounds. Mail address Boy Scout Camp, Belton, Texas.

The following list of articles to be taken to camp is given each Scout as he is registered.

Blankets 2, Scout Hat, Scout Shirts 2, Scout Pants, Shoes, Stockings, Towels 2, Tooth Brush, Soap, Comb, Knife, Fork, Spoon, Tin Cup and Tin Plate.

All of the above are absolutely necessary.

Bring also the following if possible.

Extra pair Scout Pants, Mess Kit, Canteen, Pair Leggings, Bathing Suit, Patrol Handkerchief, Boy Scout Pocket Knife, Musical Instrument if you play Fishing Tackle, but no pole.

Watch this paper next week for interesting news form 'Boy Scout Camp.

J. P. LOVE, Scoutmaster.

Church Authority Runs Along National Lines

Authority in the eastern orthodox churches is divided along national lines. There is a Russian church, a Rumanian church, a Greek church and so on, with primates, metropolitans or patriarchs of their own nationality at the head of each.

Four offices to which a great and ancient prestige attaches are the patriarchates of Constantinople, Alexandria, Antioch and Jerusalem, and that of the ecumenical patriarch of Constantinople has the most weight of all; his influence extends throughout the eastern churches; though his authority does not.

But the Russian church, for instance, is a sister church to that of Constantinople and not at all a subsidiary. Nor is this a result of recent events in Russia, the autonomy of the Russian orthodox faith dating to 1721.

Under the czars this was the established church. Soviet Russia has disestablished it and appropriated certain of its properties, and the government policy includes a propaganda against all religion. But any faith whatever may be freely professed in Russia, so far as Soviet law is concerned.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Moravian Church Has School in Far North

At Makkovik, in the ice-bound peninsula of the North American continent known as Labrador, a country where one may travel hundreds of miles without seeing a human habitation, and where the temperature in winter is often 60 degrees below zero, there is a boarding school kept by two Englishwomen.

It is under the control of the Moravian church; and is one of the most remarkable as well as the least accessible schools in the world. A mission steamer goes out once a year with goods for the Eskimos, and on her last trip along the coast, prior to her return, she takes both Eskimo children and the few white children available to the Makkovik boarding school.

There they must remain until the long winter is over, for in such terrible cold, and with no conveyance but dog-sledges, it is impossible for children to travel. That they are happy goes without saying, and with a gramophone, a piano, and a fine selection of lantern slides, as well as an excellent library, the children get not only a good education but also a good time.

Service Has Many Duties

The United States coast guard service was created by an act of congress of January 23, 1915, by combining therein the revenue-cutter service and the life-saving service. Its duties are to render assistance to vessels in distress, saving life and property; destruction or removal of wrecks and other floating dangers to navigation; extension of medical aid to American vessels engaged in deep-sea fisheries; protection of the customs revenue; operation as a part of the navy in time of war or when the President shall so direct; enforcement of laws and regulations governing anchorage of vessels in navigable waters, and quarantine and neutrality; suppressing mutinies on merchant vessels; enforcement of navigation and other laws governing merchant vessels, etc.; protection of game and seal and other fisheries in Alaska and work as an international ice patrol off Newfoundland.

Insects and Scientists

Scientists are making a special study of animal and insect life as a means of determining changes which have taken place in the earth. The relations of insects of one region bear to those of another indicate that certain islands were once connected. In Jamaica, recently, they explored a very ancient section of that country that has been above the sea for a long time and its neighboring land and which shelters insect tribes of great age. This discovery leads authorities to believe that animal life of that isle is more closely associated with those of Haiti or Cuba, and that it originally found its way from the mainland over a land bridge long since engulfed by the ocean.—Family Herald.

Gas From Flower Gardens

The great development of natural gas in the industries around Pittsburgh, Pa., is in a considerable measure due to George Westinghouse of airbrake fame. He finally induced his wife to let him sink a shaft in her flower garden, his labor being rewarded by a geyser when he had gone about 1,600 feet. From this came the development of the Pittsburgh supply. Westinghouse himself worked out the system of piping that enabled it to be distributed without leakage, at the same time reducing the pressure by the use of gradually larger pipes, until it could be safely handled by the time it reached a customer.

Earliest Known Letters

It was formerly believed that the earliest extant collection of formal letters was the series of about 150 Greek epistles professing to have been written by the tyrant Phalaris of the Sixth century B. C. A controversy arose, however, and Richard Bentley, in his famous "Dissertation on the Letters of Phalaris," in 1699, demonstrated, as is now universally admitted, that they are of comparatively late origin, about the Second century A. D. Among the early genuine letters of the Greek period are those of Isocrates (died 338 B. C.), nine in number.

Turned From Smithy to Watch Designing

The first Swiss watch was made by a blacksmith. In 1680 a distinguished Englishman was traveling through Switzerland when his watch failed him and the nearest approach he could find to a watchmaker was a young blacksmith, Daniel Jean Richard. This young man undertook to repair the watch, which he did successfully. He profited so greatly by this experience in the knowledge he acquired of the design and construction of watches that he became the first watchmaker of the country and the pioneer of a great industry. According to a Swiss watchmaker visiting this country, the district of Neuchatel produces more watches than any similar locality in the world.

When to Find Acorns

Many members of the tree-planting army like the oak. As a group, oaks carry general marks of distinction from other trees. One of these marks is the bearing of acorns, in which the oak has no competition, says the American Tree association of Washington, which for a two-cent stamp will send you tree-planting suggestions.

All of the oaks may be grouped as either white or black. To the former group belong the white oak proper and the bur oak, swamp white oak, chestnut oak, overcup oak, the post oak, and live oak, which may be recognized by the rounded lobes of their leaves, with the exception of the post oak and live oak, which have no lobes; and by their light gray or light buffish-brown bark, which breaks off into scales, daily sealed. The bur oak is distinguished from its close kinsmen by its corklike branches. The trees of this group mature their acorns in a single year, and for this reason acorns of old and new crops are never found in the same year.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On Carrying Checks Around

"Have you heard about the trouble Jim Sykes is in, Aunt Emmy?" asked Molly, who dearly loved to talk about her neighbors.

"Why, no," answered Aunt Emmy; "what is it?"

"Well, Auntie, you know how proud he was to get that building job from Mr. Parker. He needed the money so much. When it was finished Mr. Parker gave him a check for $3,000. Of course Jim had obligated himself to pay a lot of that out for materials and things. Well, you know what an old slow poke Jim Sykes is. Instead of taking the check to the bank right away he carried it around in his pocket and then poor Mr. Parker died. Now he must wait until Mr. Parker's estate is settled, and that may be a couple of years before he can cash the check. Poor Jim, isn't it a shame!"

"It's too bad," agreed Aunt Emmy, "but quite in keeping with most folks' carelessness about money. People should be prompt in depositing checks. Aside from such a serious thing as a death, an undeposited check is a nuisance to lots of people. Banks and business houses keep their books carefully balanced. If at the end of a month a check that has been issued has not been put through for collection it means a lot of unnecessary bookkeeping for the person who issued the check and for the bank."

"Then, too, there is the danger of loss. People often write their names across the back of a check and then carry it around for a day or two before banking it. An indorsed check is as negotiable as money. To be safe always indorse it to your bank. Write 'Pay to the Order of —' then the name of your bank and below that sign your name. That protects the check from being used, if it should get out of your hands. But never waste any time about depositing checks you receive."

"Not after what happened to Jim and after hearing you tell me all these things, Auntie!" said Molly. "I'd be scared to keep a check a minute more than necessary."—Anne B. Aymes.

Father Picked Moral From Youngster's Joke

A prominent Los Angeles attorney told the following story in a recent address to the graduates of a grammar school. He said that his son, a high-school graduate, came home one day and asked him if he were a good mathematician.

"Yes, my boy, I think I'm pretty good," the father replied.

"Well, then, I have a problem I'd like to have you solve. There were three frogs sitting on a log—a bullfrog, a tree frog and a toad frog. The bullfrog decided to jump off. How many were there left?"

The father smiled. "Why, that's an easy one. Two frogs were left."

"And that's where you are all wrong!" exclaimed the boy, grinning. "Three frogs were left, because the bullfrog only decided to jump off. He didn't jump."

Then the lawyer impressed upon his audience that a person who would win success must act promptly on his decisions.

Riches Garnered From Great Chilean Desert

Chile has many thousands of square miles of land capable of cultivation, yet its most valuable asset is a desert where the rainfall is seldom more than half an inch per annum. It does not grow a single tree, or even a blade of grass, except where patches of imported soil have been laid. This is the nitrate country, which employs 50,000 people directly and indirectly five times as many, and in which something approaching $200,000,000 is invested.

There are over one hundred and seventy separate workings, each of which is the center of a busy population. Yet every ounce of food, every yard of clothing, every cog and shaft of its huge machinery, every pint of water even, has to be brought from a distance. For many miles around the country produces nothing but nitrate of soda.

It is an amazing fact that the most valuable fertilizer of commerce comes from a region where nothing will grow, but it is a case of all fertilizer and no soil and no rain. In earlier days water was so valuable that it was a saying that it was cheaper to drink champagne, but now water is carried by pipes from far-off sources, some of which are 200 miles distant.

Modern Heroine

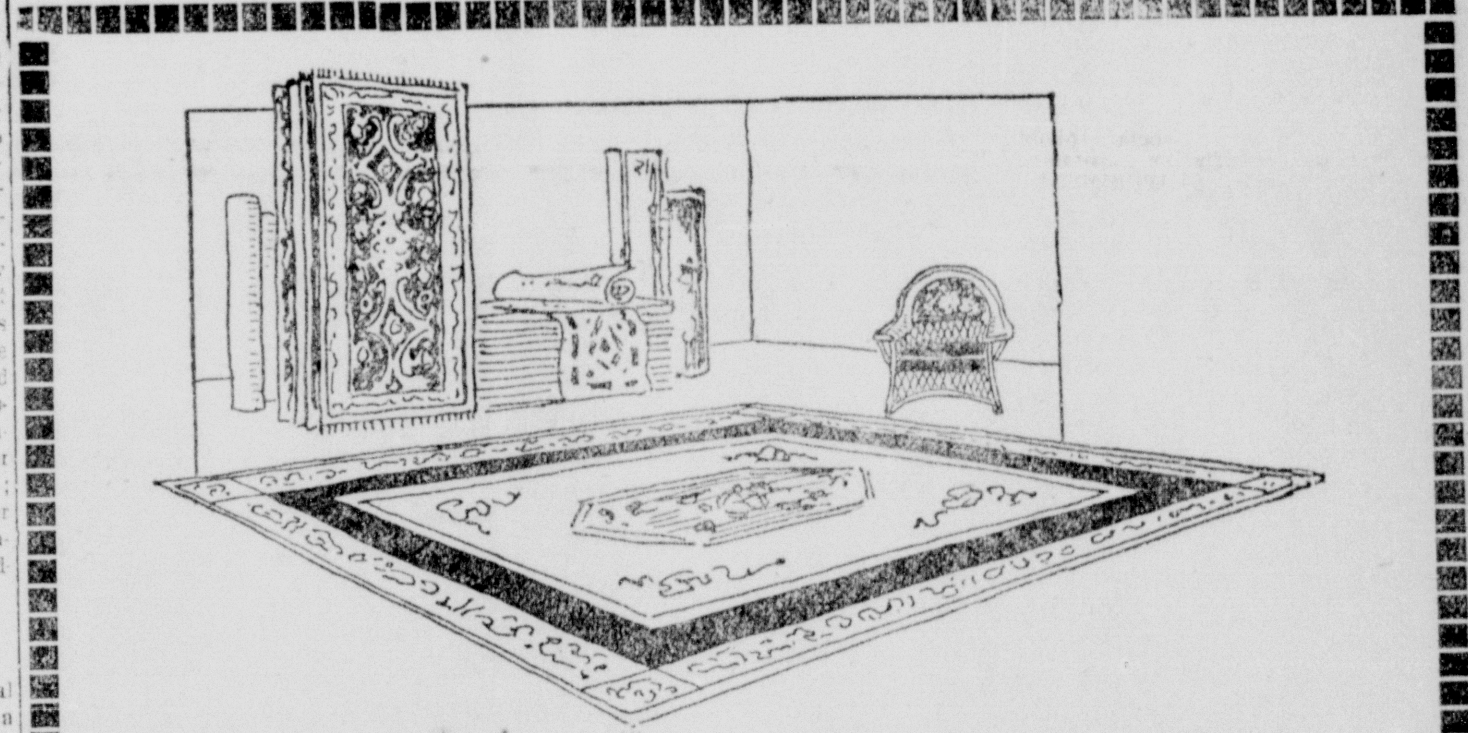

Barbara was selfish, thirsty for pleasures of the most vulgar sort, amused herself by collecting adorners and treating them badly, was stupid and a liar—in other words, was one of the normal types of healthy young womanhood. I should have been less disturbed by these discoveries if only her face had been different. But with that dazzling and mysteriously lovely face she was a perpetual source of surprise and pain. In Barbara's company I was learning that it is possible to be profoundly and slavishly in love with some one for whom one has no esteem, whom one regards as a bad character, and who, finally, not only makes one unhappy, but bores one.—From "Those Barren Leaves," by Aldous Huxley.

Made Name Glorious

A world-famous battle was fought at Thermopylae in northern Greece on August 7, 8 and 9, 480 B. C., between three hundred Spartans and seven hundred Thespians, commanded by Leonidas and the entire Persian host. For four days Leonidas and his band held the pass of Thermopylae against the invaders, at the end of which time Epialtes, a Trachinian, led the Persians over the mountains by a secret path to the rear of the Greeks, who were thus placed between two hostile armies and were finally cut to pieces. One Greek only escaped, and he is said to have been fended with reproaches for having fled.—Kansas City Star.

Balance Your Diet

The balanced diet is the healthy one and contains all three of the important vitamins. The principal food value of bread and meat lies in their protein content but they are low in vitamins B and C, and if you would be sure of more balanced rations insuring plenty of each essential, use the citrus fruits often. The juice of the grapefruit has a high content of vitamins B and C that provide the proper amount of carbohydrates and salts. Grapefruit supplies the blood with an alkaline reserve which effectively combats acidosis.

WHY OUR GREETING CARDS ARE READILY BOUGHT

Every greeting card in our line represents the earnest thought and endeavor of many different experienced greeting card workers.

Before we accept a greeting card, it must measure up to the following tests:

"Does it express its message humanly and sincerely? Is its color scheme striking and attractive? Is it superior to the average greeting card? Is its sentiment different? Can it be sold at an interesting price?"

All of the designs that do not measure up to these standards are discarded at once and only those which pass the severe criticisms of several expert greeting card designers are allowed to go into the line.

This is the reason that every card we have is a potential sales producer. Most of the cards in the line are the result of the best thoughts and efforts of our extensive corps of expert greeting card designers, sentiment writers and master engravers.

There is far more to our greeting cards than just an unusually beautiful engraving and pretty paper. Every card represents an elegantly expressed message of good-will and thoughtful remembrance. This is what our customers immediately see when they took over our samples.

They are favorably impressed with the clean-cut, bright, snappy colors, the suggestive Christmas designs and the warm-hearted sentiments.

Every one of us is successful only to the extent of the good-will which we create among other people. Our Christmas and New Year greeting cards are powerful good-will builders.

The personal cards cement the good-will of our personal friends while the business designs develop the good-will of old customers and create good-will among those people we are trying to sell products or service.

Southwestern Student, 17, Is Given License To Become Minister

Georgetown, Texas, June 27.—Already a licensed preacher, although but 17 years old, with fifty-three sermons to his credit, a college student, and a foot ball player! Such is the remarkable record of Chas. Tally, Jr., student-preacher-athlete of Beaumont, who is a freshman at Southwestern University.

Young Tally, at 17, has had a career as varied as that of a man twice his age. Not confining himself strictly to ministerial work and athletics, Tally has also served as a "private" in the citizen's military training camp at Fort Sam Houston. Graduating from Central High, Houston, at 16, young Tally enlisted in the military camp last summer. After two months training he was awarded a gold medal for being the best drilled citizen-soldier in the regiment.

Tally is the son of the Rev. Chas. T. Tally, former presiding elder of the Marlin Methodist church. While serving in the capacity of presiding elder the Rev. Mr. Tally's last official act was the signing of his son's license to become a minister. Young Tally was then 16 and a month later he preached his first sermon at the Denver Methodist church in Houston. Later he became assistant pastor, and now he has already passed the fifty mark in the number of sermons he has delivered. Before preparing his addresses, young Tally takes long walks through the woods in search of inspiration.

Long ago Tally made up his mind to become a missionary. "I did not arrive at this conclusion hastily," he said. "I conferred with many people, including my father, who advised me against taking this course, for he regarded the undertaking as too hazardous. I have asked God to guide my foot steps, and if He is willing nothing can prevent me from realizing my ambition," young Tally stated.

As a preacher's son, he has attended several schools, including the Marlin High school and the Bryan school. Last fall young Tally enrolled as a freshman at Southwestern University, taking the prescribed ministerial work. At the beginning of the foot ball season he attracted the immediate attention of coaches because of his size. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 190 pounds.

Under the T. I. A. A. ruling, first-year men are eligible for collegiate competition. Young Tally played center on the foot ball team. In a game against the University of Texas the showing that Tally made while playing against an all conference center drew favorable comments from several sport writers.

Young Tally is at present Sunday school superintendent at Georgetown and a member of the ministerial association of Southwestern University. After graduation he will leave for Japan, where he will take up his religious duties as missionary.

Halted Guns to Save Heroic Mother Bird

One day during the World war I was taking a battery of artillery along a grassy road, a writer in London Tit-Bits relates. The horses were trotting, and behind them the guns rumbled and swayed over ruts and stones.

Suddenly there appeared not fifty yards in front of the leading horses a dozen fluffy brown partridge "cheepers," tiny mites no bigger than sparrows, running hither and thither in the wildest panic before the approaching danger. With them was the mother bird. She chivvied them off into the grass on either side of the road, and then, when the last one had made its escape, turned and with open beak and half-spread wings faced the battery, daring them to come on.

Had the battery not been halted the bird would have given her life in an endeavor to ensure the safety of her chicks. As it was, she achieved her object by a display of real heroism in the face of hopeless odds.

This is a typical example of the way nature makes heroines of animal mothers, no matter how timid they may be when they have no family to care for. In defence of their helpless young, nature's heroines will face any creature that threatens their safety.

Species Unchanged for Eight Million Years

The longest pedigree in the world so far as science can discover belongs to the "sphenedon," which can boast an ancestry of eight million years duration. The sphenedon is found on a tiny island off the coast of New Zealand. "There is nothing quite like it anywhere else. The sphenedon is a reptile and is a mixture of crocodile, snake, turtle, and lizard. As a matter of fact, it is probably the ancestor of all these creatures, but in the process of evolution through countless ages, the "children" have altered and split up into a hundred and one different "families." The sphenedon, however, has gone on its way unchanged and is exactly as it was eight million years ago. This pheristoric creature shows greatest similarity to the lizard. It has four short legs and a long tail. Its face is rather like that of a fish and there is a hard ridge on the top of its head and down its back. The dinosaur and other prehistoric animals are of quite recent date compared with the sphenedon. It is generally supposed that the dinosaur disappeared off the earth a mere three million years ago!

Influenza Ancient Enemy

Influenza has been known almost as long as man has been known. The word itself is derived from the ancient astrologers, who believed it to be caused by the "influence" of the stars. The disease has been unmistakably traced back to 1580. It was then prevalent in eastern Germany and was known, curiously enough, as sleeping sickness. It appeared again in the Eighteenth century, when epidemics of it were frequent and prolonged in most European countries. Among the famous people of long ago who suffered from it were Sir Isaac Newton, Goethe and Schiller. The great philosopher, Kant, was attacked by it, and he believed it was caused by noxious insects brought to western Europe as a result of trade with Russia.

Modern Heroine

Barbara was selfish, thirsty for pleasures of the most vulgar sort, amused herself by collecting adorners and treating them badly, was stupid and a liar—in other words, was one of the normal types of healthy young womanhood. I should have been less disturbed by these discoveries if only her face had been different. But with that dazzling and mysteriously lovely face she was a perpetual source of surprise and pain. In Barbara's company I was learning that it is possible to be profoundly and slavishly in love with some one for whom one has no esteem, whom one regards as a bad character, and who, finally, not only makes one unhappy, but bores one.—From "Those Barren Leaves," by Aldous Huxley.

Made Name Glorious

A world-famous battle was fought at Thermopylae in northern Greece on August 7, 8 and 9, 480 B. C., between three hundred Spartans and seven hundred Thespians, commanded by Leonidas and the entire Persian host. For four days Leonidas and his band held the pass of Thermopylae against the invaders, at the end of which time Epialtes, a Trachinian, led the Persians over the mountains by a secret path to the rear of the Greeks, who were thus placed between two hostile armies and were finally cut to pieces. One Greek only escaped, and he is said to have been loaded with reproaches for having fled.—Kansas City Star.

Balance Your Diet

The balanced diet is the healthy one and contains all three of the important vitamins. The principal food value of bread and meat lies in their protein content but they are low in vitamins B and C, and if you would be sure of more balanced rations insuring plenty of each essential, use the citrus fruits often. The juice of the grapefruit has a high content of vitamins B and C that provide the proper amount of carbohydrates and salts. Grapefruit supplies the blood with an alkaline reserve which effectively combats acidosis.

STOP THAT ITCHING

Sufferers from skin diseases such as Itch, Eczema, Tetter, Poison Oak, Ringworm, Old Sores or Sores on Children may find relief from the use of a jar of BLUE STAR REMEDY or their money will be refunded. The first application relieves that terrible itching. Will not stain clothing and has a pleasant odor.

Notice to School Patrons

In accordance with the policy of the school board made public some months ago one section of each of the first three grades will be maintained at the old grammar school building and one section of each of these grades will be maintained at the new building. All students in grades beginning with the fourth will be housed in the new building.

For convenience in determining what building pupils of the first, second and third grades shall attend the town has been divided into two zones. Zone number 1 includes all territory south of eleventh street. Zone number 2 includes all territory north of eleventh street. All children of grades one, two and three who live south of eleventh street will attend the old grammar school, and children of the first three grades who reside north of eleventh street will attend the new school, provided that any parent may transfer children from one zone to another by making written application for such transfer to the superintendent of schools before July 15. This gives all patrons the choice of having their children of the first three grades attend either building.

Specifications for repairing the old grammar school building have been approved and a contract for the work will be let in the near future.

By order of the School Board.

Hutcherson Leads Baptists In Progress

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Sunday morning the Baptist congregation will occupy the new Sunday School buildings recently completed by the membership. The building of these buildings marks another milestone in the progress of Cameron Baptist church under the leadership of Rev. E. S. Hutcherson, pastor. The new building has been made necessary by the increased attendance at Sunday school, the largest in Milam county. When Hutcherson came to Cameron a little over a year ago the work of the church was far below efficiency. A good financier, he has brought the church to the budget plan, paid off all obligations and has the church on a cash basis at all times. A financial secretary is employed and a finance committee named to look after finances. The doctrine of the tithe is preached and the percentage of tithers is increasing. The pastor will preach morning and night Sunday.

and Johnny Reese, minors, Mrs. Annie Reese was, by the County Court of Milam County, Texas, duly appointed Temporary Guardian of the persons and estates of said Minors, which appointment will be made permanent, unless the same shall be successfully contested at the next term of said Court, commencing on the first Monday in August A. D. 1925, the same being the 3rd day of August A. D. 1925, at the court house thereof, in Cameron, Texas, at which time all persons interested in the welfare of said Minors may appear and contest such appointment, if they see proper to do so.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Witness, Lilian Atkinson, Clerk of the County Court of Milam county.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Cameron, Texas, this the 2nd day of July, A. D. 1925.

Use Electric Shocks for Regulating Hearts

One of the most remarkable of recent medical inventions is the static wave device.

Its purpose is to regulate the beating of the heart, should it be too fast or too slow. The patient sits in an insulated chair connected with a machine which passes an electric current through the body.

Outside the machine is a revolving ball, fixed to the end of a metal rod. Every time this ball passes another stationary ball, electricity is discharged from the body, causing the muscles to relax.

If the heart should be beating 74 times a minute, but is six beats fast, says the Detroit News, the revolving ball is timed to go around at 74 revolutions a minute and the heart is thus slowed down to its correct time. In the same way, the heart can be quickened.

This wonderful machine was exhibited at a recent medical exhibition in London. The force of the current is such that a person putting his hand within six inches of the chair receives a powerful shock.

His Own Death Notice

Mike was working diligently in his potato patch when he saw the postman coming up the road, bringing a black-edged envelope.

Mike became uneasy, and showed it. "Hope it's not bad news," said the postman.

"It is that," said Mike, looking at the address. "It's upset I am entirely. My brother, Pat's dead. I can tell by his handwriting."—From Everybody's Magazine.

Gave Name to Vogue

The name "silhouette" is derived from Etienne de Silhouette, a French minister of finance, who was famous for his measures of economy in 1759. All business was stripped of unnecessary detail. Paintings were reduced to mere outlines. Whether this was in conformance with the spirit of economy or because it was coincidence that black and white outline portraits became popular at this time, the name "Silhouette" was applied to them and has clung.

Animal Highly Valued

The water buffalo is valued highly in China, especially in the fields, where it is used for the cultivation of the rice crop. It is said that they are more powerful than the ox and capable of dragging or carrying a heavier load. The female yields a much greater quantity of milk than a cow, and of excellent quality, from which the ghee or semi-fluid butter of India is made. The hide is valued for its strength and durability.

UNDER THE COURT HOUSE DOME

District Clerk Penn Wolf recently sold White Stride, the famous Walker dog known to hunters in all parts of the country. Mr. Wolf received $250 for White Stride and was sold to L. E. Johnson at Providence, Ky. At one time Mr. Wolf refused an offer of $1000 for White Stride, sired by Big Stride, the famous Walker kennel hound. Recently Mr. Wolf purchased from Dr. H. E. Wright of San Antonio, Shamrock a three year old Cork dog from the Walker strain and now has him at the kennel in Cameron. Also Mr. Wolf has purchased another Cork dog from J. C. Hunt of Oil Town, Oklahoma. These dogs are three years old and are finished dogs. Breeders throughout South Texas and other portions are evidencing interest in the Wolf kennel. He still has Joe White a Hub Dawson dog and believed by Mr. Wolf to be the greatest living dog because of his hunting and striking ability.

Notification has been received by Penn Wolf, district clerk, that Ed. Beard and Gabriel Horak, have reported to the penitentiary for their terms of service. Beard was sentenced to five years for the murder of Robert Caffey at Thorndale in 1923. Horak was sent to the prison for violating the liquor laws. The district clerk has also been notified of the appearance at the penitentiary of Monroe Edwards and West Gibson whose cases have been affirmed and the sentence of one year begun.

The grand jury will meet on Monday to begin its work of considering matters developed since the last session. It is understood the jury will have under consideration a number of cases.

Sheriff Blaylock received the news Tuesday of the death of John James, former constable at Thorndale. Mr. James died in a hospital at Taylor following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. James was at the time of his death a deputy sheriff at Thorndale under Mr. Blaylock and had served as constable. He was a candidate for commissioner in the late July Primary and was defeated. It was said that the body would be returned to Milam county for burial. He was born and reared near Rockdale and was a highly respected citizen and peace officer.

The funeral Mr. James occurred at Thorndale Wednesday.

Jack Moore, charged by indictment with the murder of J. T. (Man) Davis near San Gabriel last May will go to trial in the district court here before Judge Watson on July 13. A special venire of 100 men has been summoned for the trial.

The new law known as the search and seizure act amended, is going to work a hardship on peace officers who seek to enforce the prohibition laws, according to Sheriff Blaylock whose experience as a peace officer has shown how detrimental are some provisions which protect the law violator. Warrants are now required to search not only in homes but persons away from their homes who may be found in actual violation of the laws. While the law has protected homes against search without a warrant for many years, a safeguard of the constitution, the new statute is expressly liberal to the law violator in that it gives him immunities from immediate arrest when caught and the result will be detrimental to enforcement of the prohibition and other laws.

Roy Law, Milam County's young and efficient tax collector, has just returned to Cameron from a two weeks vacation trip to the Rio Grande Valley. In company Eber Flinn he went to Bishop where they visited the Flinn plantation. While in the valley Mr. Law went to Old Mexico and found many things of interest on that side of the big river. Mr. Law has the work in fine shape at the collectors office and has just completed the delinquent tax rolls for the year.

Mrs. Katie Robbins, superintendent of public education for Milam county, is directing a progressive school program for Milam county. In the few months she has been in office a number of new school buildings have been built and now five new school buildings are being planned for this summer. They are Belmena, String Prairie, Val Verde, Voglesang and North Elm. Recently the school census has been compiled and the total number of pupils in the county are 10,694. Of this number two thirds are in the rural schools. The figures are as follows: Rural schools 7,633; Cameron 1169; Rockdale 566; Thorndale 398; Gause 218; Milano 217; Sharp 186; Burlington 162; Fairview 140.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME IN CAMERON AND BIG BLDG. JONES PRAIRIE.

The R. P. Fisher dwelling occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Martin was destroyed by fire on last Saturday. The house was located in the Hefley heights addition. Some of the household goods were saved and the home was covered by insurance.

Prof. Edwards of the Jones Prairie school was in Cameron Tuesday and announced that the teacherage was burned at that place last week. The loss partially covered by insurance was estimated at $3000.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.
